

FRANCOPHONE IMMIGRANT WOMEN IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

WELCOME BOOKLET

ALLIANCE DES FEMMES DE LA
FRANCOPHONIE CANADIENNE

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT AND EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Dear readers,

Francophone immigrant women make an invaluable contribution to the vitality and diversity of Canada's Francophone and Acadian minority communities. Their resilience and commitment, whether to their families or to society, enrich our social fabric and strengthen Francophone identity across the country. Yet their path to integration can be marked by specific obstacles, including challenges related to language, access to appropriate services and adaptation to new cultural realities.

This booklet, designed to support these women in their integration, is also intended to extend its usefulness. Presented here in English, it aims to equip English-speaking immigration service providers to effectively refer their French-speaking clients to French-language resources and services essential to their integration into Francophone communities.

This document is the result of in-depth consultations with French-speaking immigrant women, and has been designed to respond concretely to their needs. It contains key information on services offered, resources available and opportunities for community involvement in a Francophone context. Adapted versions for other regions such as Ontario, Yukon and Manitoba have also been developed to reflect local particularities.

We would like to express our deepest gratitude to the partners who contributed to this project, notably Réseau-Femmes Colombie-Britannique (RFCB). Thanks to their expertise and collaboration, this booklet is a valuable tool for strengthening inclusion and promoting access to adapted services.

We hope this guide will be a useful resource, both for French-speaking immigrant women and for the professionals who support them in their integration. Together, let's make this welcoming experience a success and a springboard to successful integration.

With all our admiration and best wishes for a successful intégration,

Happy reading,

NOUR ENAYEH,
President

SOUKAINA BOUTIYEB,
Executive Director

THE PROVINCE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

British Columbia is the country's most south-westerly province. It is Canada's third largest province after Ontario and Quebec. Victoria, located on the southern tip of Vancouver Island in the west of the province, is the capital.

The province is bordered to the west by the Pacific Ocean, to the northwest by Alaska, to the north by the Yukon and Northwest Territories, to the east by the province of Alberta, and to the south by the U.S. states of Washington, Idaho and Montana.

According to the 2021 population census, British Columbia's population is estimated at 5 million, making it the third most populous province in the country after Ontario and Quebec. Vancouver is the province's largest city, with a population of around 2.6 million in the metropolitan area. English is the main language, but around 300,000 francophones live in British Columbia. There is also linguistic diversity, with communities speaking Chinese (Mandarin and Cantonese), Punjabi and Tagalog, among other languages.

British Columbia is the only province not to have ratified the Official Languages Act. However, since January 2024, the British Columbia government has had a French-language services policy in place.

According to the 2021 population census, British Columbia's population is estimated at 5 million inhabitants, making it the third most populous province.

Nanaimo and Prince George have been selected as welcoming communities for French speakers.

SERVICES FOR WOMEN

OFFERED BY AFFC MEMBER ORGANIZATIONS

RÉSEAU-FEMMES COLOMBIE-BRITANNIQUE (RFCB)

The mission of Réseau-Femmes Colombie-Britannique (RFCB) is to bring together the Francophone women of British Columbia, to represent, promote and defend their rights and interests, and to contribute to the full achievement of their potential.

Réseau-Femmes helps break the isolation of minority Francophone women in British Columbia through its 18 regional groups. These groups organize local activities to encourage exchanges between women throughout the province.

Réseau-Femmes offers resources, discussion forums and workshops in French to support women's personal and professional development.

Through specific groups and committees, women address and contribute to systemic changes important to women, such as anti-violence, fair justice, the specific needs of extra-ordinary children, recognition of volunteer work, integration of newcomers, women's health, inclusive education, anti-waste and support for caregivers.

Its actions aim to promote an equitable and inclusive society, notably by preventing gender-based violence.

Réseau-Femmes has several groups across the province.

INFORM'ELLES

Inform'Elles' mission is to promote access to services and support for francophone women and girls in British Columbia who are experiencing or have experienced violence. The organization offers:

- a telephone support line;
- psychological support;
- information and practical resources;
- education and awareness programs.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

Hebergementfemmes.ca is an online resource designed to help women seeking to escape an abusive situation. The interactive map of British Columbia is easy to use to quickly connect with the nearest shelter that can offer safety, hope and support.

RECEPTION SERVICES FOR FRENCH-SPEAKING IMMIGRANTS

Several organizations offer reception services to French-speaking immigrants. Some cover the whole of British Columbia, while others concentrate their actions and services on a regional scale.

RECEPTION SERVICES

- Le Relais francophone de la Colombie- Britannique offers settlement, integration and employment services. These services are offered on-site in Vancouver, Victoria, Nanaimo, Coquitlam, New Westminster and remotely in the rest of the province.
- The Réseau en immigration francophone de la Colombie-Britannique brings together 35 members offering services to French-speaking immigrants in the province.
- Collège Éducacentre offers a Francophone settlement program for newcomers, covering everything from housing to banking and legal systems, employment and social relations.

REGIONAL SERVICES

Several regional associations and organizations whose mission is to bring Francophones and francophiles together offer services to immigrants.

The French Services Directory provides information on services available to Francophones in British Columbia's 11 regions. This resource allows you to discover the services available to immigrants and Francophones, so you can get to better know the province's regions.

SERVICES FOR SETTLING IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

- The British Columbia Public Services Helpdesk helps you find your way around the province's public programs and services. Government agents provide information in several languages.

EMPLOYMENT

SOCIAL INSURANCE NUMBER

- A social insurance number is essential when you're looking for a job and when you're settling in. You need it to work in Canada, to receive government benefits and programs, and to file income tax returns. Your Social Insurance Number (SIN) is confidential and it is illegal for anyone else to use it. It is your responsibility to protect it. Your SIN is issued by Services Canada. If you are eligible, it will be sent to you in paper format (confirmation of SIN letter) or digitally by registering for a My Service Canada Account (MSCA).

APPLY FOR A SOCIAL INSURANCE NUMBER

PERMANENT RESIDENT CARD

- A permanent resident card is not required for employment in Canada (a work permit is sufficient). But it is the official proof that you are a permanent resident of Canada. If you leave the country, you'll need this card to re-enter. You can use your permanent resident card as identification in a number of situations, for example to apply for other government documents (such as a health insurance card or social insurance number), to access government services or to open a bank account.

GOVERNMENT SERVICES

- The Planning to work in British Columbia? workbook provides information on foreign credentials that need to be recognized in order to work in Canada.
- The Government of Canada's Job Bank offers resources for finding a job as a newcomer to Canada. The site provides access to a database with a search function based on job title and location where you wish to find a job.
- WorkBC Centers help you identify your strengths and needs in your job search. They support you in your personal job search planning and skills enhancement through group and individual workshops. We even provide financial assistance during the job search period, for instance for transportation and childcare.

ELEMENTARY AND SECONDARY EDUCATION

- In British Columbia, primary school (kindergarten to grade 7) and secondary school (grades 8 to 12) are the two basic levels of schooling for children and youth. The school year usually begins in the first week of September and ends in late June. In British Columbia, all children and youth between the ages of 5 and 16 must attend an education program, and most attend a public school. These schools offer free primary and secondary education to school-age children who are (and their parents or legal guardians are) residents of British Columbia.
- The Conseil scolaire francophone de la Colombie-Britannique administers 47 francophone schools throughout the province, from kindergarten to grade 12 and employs over 6,000 people. A section of the website provides information on how to register your children at the school. The Conseil also offers the free service of Workers for Settlement in Schools (TÉÉ), dedicated to the sustainable adaptation and integration of students and their families into the province's education system.

COLLEGE

- Collège Éducacentre is the only French-language college in British Columbia.

UNIVERSITIES

- Simon Fraser University (SFU) is the only university in British Columbia that offers the opportunity to study in several fields in both of Canada's official languages. Nearly 30 programs are offered in French.
- The French program at the University of British Columbia (UBC) offers courses in French language, French literature and French studies. UBC is also home to its Centre de la francophonie, which promotes the French language on campus and in the community.
- The Department of French and Francophone Studies at the University of Victoria aims to foster understanding of the diversity of literatures and cultures of the French-speaking world. It offers language courses for teachers and immersion programs.

HOUSING

As Canada's national housing agency, Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation (CMHC) helps Canadians, including newcomers, access a wide range of information, videos and tools to help them make informed housing decisions. It offers a wealth of information, including a guide to buying and renting a home. There's also a document entitled Renting in Canada - What Newcomers Need to Know, which outlines the rights and obligations of landlords and tenants, types of housing, the rental contract (lease) and a host of practical details on finding the right home in Canada.

The Location résidentielle en Colombie-Britannique page presents, among other things, the rights and obligations of tenants and landlords in the province.

TRANSPORT

Here's some basic information about our means of transport.

DRIVER'S LICENSE

- On this "Driving in British Columbia" page, you'll find various links grouped by road-transport related topics, including obtaining a driver's license (in English).

TO FIND OUT MORE

PERMIT EXCHANGE

- If you are a new resident of British Columbia and hold a valid driver's licence from your home country or another province in Canada, you may use it for up to 90 days before applying for a British Columbia licence. A driver's licence issued by the British Columbia government allows you to drive anywhere in Canada.

PUBLIC TRANSPORT

- Most municipalities with sizeable populations offer public transportation. If you don't have a car, or prefer not to drive, public transportation is a convenient and economical way to get from one place to another.

TO FIND OUT MORE

PARATRANSIT

- If you have a disability or mobility problem, some municipalities offer paratransit services. Eligibility criteria for this service, and the transportation options available, vary from city to city. Paratransit can serve, for example, people in wheelchairs who can't easily take public transit. Paratransit vehicles can pick you up at home and take you directly where you need to go.

CULTURE AND COMMUNITY ACTIVITIES

There are many associations for Francophones in different parts of the province. Here are just a few of them:

- The Canadian-Haitian Cultural Association of British Columbia promotes the Canadian-Haitian community and its heritage through arts and crafts, music, cuisine and traditional celebrations.
- Carrefour 50+ British Columbia has been bringing together, representing and mobilizing Francophones and francophiles for over 50 years.
- The Conseil culturel et artistique francophone de la Colombie-Britannique brings together the province's Francophone associations involved in cultural and artistic programming.
- The Conseil jeunesse francophone de la Colombie-Britannique promotes, develops and represents the interests of French-speaking youth by organizing cultural, educational and community initiatives for young people aged 14 to 25.
- The Communauté congolaise du Canada (CCC) offers a wide range of day-to-day services to local Congolese communities in cities across Canada.

HUMAN RIGHTS AND LEGAL SERVICES

The governments of Canada and British Columbia have passed various laws to ensure that your rights are respected. There are also a number of organizations that can help you with your legal affairs.

HUMAN RIGHTS AND LEGAL SERVICES

- The Office of the Commissioner of Official Languages protects the language rights of Canadians and promotes the equality of both official languages in Canadian society. The Official Languages Act establishes the equality of English and French, and grants you a set of language rights. Under this Act, you can benefit from bilingual services when dealing with federal government agencies.
- In British Columbia, the BC Human Rights Code (in English) helps protect you from discrimination and harassment. It allows you to file a complaint with the province's Human Rights Tribunal if you believe you've been discriminated against on the basis of gender, race or religion, for example.
- If you have left a relationship or are living apart from your child's other parent, you have a number of rights and responsibilities under the law. Today's laws on family law help you plan for your child's future care, alimony and the division of property or debts. Their quick reference tool is your starting point for the steps you need to take.
- LegalAidBC offers legal aid services in several languages, including French. Lawyers provide advice on family and criminal law, and help clients fill out forms. Services are available to all members of the community, with specific components for low-income and aboriginal people.
- The Association des juristes d'expression française de la Colombie-Britannique promotes access to justice by providing legal information in French to francophones in British Columbia, and by supporting lawyers who are able to offer services in French.
